BRICK YARD ACTIVITIES

Martin C. Peters of the Aluminate Vitreous Facing Co., reports great demand for brick from his kilns. While there are many thousands of brick already burned lying in the yard, these are all contracted for and a great rush is on since the weather has cleared to keep up with the demand. Before many weeks it is the hope of Mr. Peters to deliver a million or more brick every thirty days from his kilns. A great surprise was in store for a Herald reporter when this plant was visited this week. Ten acres comprise the holdings and the buildings represent many thousands of dollars. Especially interesting was the Aluminate Vitreous Facing department, where Glass Mantle Tile in colors is made. Bins full of high grade sand, the chemical laboratory and holds for making this beautiful building product are in their own department, and while the furnaces are cold, it is the hope of the management to interest experienced men to start this department in connection with the brick yard, as was carried on heretofore. Beautiful samples of mantle tile are on display and is well worth the trip to the yards to those who have not known of this unique industry in our midst.

AN UNPARALLELED RECORD

With more than 100 performances for the present season alone, and nearly 1900 performances since it has had its first presentation, the Mission Play at San Gabriel has now left far in the distance the record of every other dramatic production in history. It is a record unparalleled in the annals of the stage.

Speaking to some fellow newspaper men at the San Gabriel playhouse, the other day, John Steven McGroarty, the author of this great California pageant-drama, said that the attendance at the play this year is greater than ever, notwithstanding that there has been almost constant rains, much sickness among the people, and comparatively few tourists. "What makes this year the greatest in the Mission Play's history," the author said, "is the fact that our home people have at last become interested in it. And it makes me very happy. It is the thing that we have been waiting for through all these years. The Mission Play is now honored in its own country." Just how much longer the present season of the play will last is not yet announced, but it is probable that it will soon draw to a close.
